

Announcing API Collections

API Collections are a revolutionary way to select works of interest by Art Photo Index artists. Drag-and-drop technology makes it incredibly easy for viewers to select and organize work for different needs. You can easily drag images from any page within the index, directly into your private collections' folders.

Features

- Drag and drop images from any page on API.
- Drag and drop website screenshots.
- Easily create and name new folders and subfolders.
- Change the order of the folders and subfolders.
- Drag and drop work from one folder to another.
- Change the width of the folder pane to see the full names of each folder.
- Change the size of your collections to see many more images.
- Within each folder, change the order of the images to your liking.
- Click an image to enlarge it.
- Move back and forth between enlarged images by clicking on either side of the image.
- Click a link to view the artist's entire body of work on API.
- View the title of the enlarged image.
- View each of the keywords associated with the image.
- View the galleries who represent the artist.

For additional information

Contact Erin Azouz, call 505.988.5152 x114 or email info@artphotoindex.com